The indicators and success metrics shall go beyond literacy & numeracy to measure success in terms of:

1. Physical & mental health
2. Social & emotional development
3. Creativity & innovation

5. Overall academic achievement

V. Process for evaluation:

School self-assessment

• Management & leadership of the school
• Curriculum
• Quality of teaching-learning
• Community & Partnerships
• Infrastructure & Resources

This self-assessment shall be reported by way of a Principal’s report that will provide a way to measure the progress of the school against the criterion and objectives laid out. In addition, this will serve as a ‘self-certification’ and allow the school to assess both strengths and areas for improvement.

VI. External assessment

• SRI (School readiness instrument for early years)
• Independent third-party agency assessment using rigorous evaluation techniques and questionnaires

Additional Considerations:

Safety and security of the school

All efforts shall be undertaken to make the school a safe environment. CCTV cameras shall be installed, fire safety measures and protocols shall be put in place (Fire drills + purchase of fire extinguishers, a school health dispensary will be set up (with First Aid kits + first aid treatment + school nurse). There shall be adequate training of school staff & students as well as periodic inspection of the school building to ensure that safety and security processes are effectively followed.

VII. Timings

Timings shall differ for children of different age groups; ranging from four–five hours for the early years to six–seven hours for the remaining children. Remedial activity shall take place after school for selected groups. Two separate timings could be followed within a calendar year, due to the variation in the seasons.

Timings for teachers: Teachers shall need to put in more hours of preparation and planning time. Thus, they shall have longer working hours than typical government schools.
