Answer 10:

8) Bholi was the youngest daughter of Ram Lal. She was pretty and fair in childhood. But when she was ten months old, she had fallen off from the cot on her head. So, some part of her brain was damaged and she was unable to speak till she was five years. When she started speaking, she stammered. Moreover, she had pockmarks on her face and her entire body was disfigured due to those pockmarks when she was two years old. She looked ugly & weak. All these traits made Bholi different from other children. Other children used to make fun of her so she spoke very little.

QUESTION

Her real name was Sulekha but everyone called her Bholi, the simpleton. Her parents did not care for her. She was sent to school as she was the most useless member of family. She never got clean clothes to wear. But Bholi's brother's and sisters were healthy & fair. All these differences made her an object of neglect for her parents and an object of laughter for children.

of Anne during hiding and an observation of daily life under Nazi regimes.

Anne Frank was a German-born, Jewish girl. The diary entry records two years of Anne's life from 12 June 1943 to 1 August 1945. She wrote while in hiding with her family. She writes clearly about the persecutions laid down on Jews by the Nazis. She wrote that Jews were forbidden to drive, to visit public places and they were forced to wear a Yellow Star to identify themselves. The Ruler of Nazi's and the harsh face of German government was illustrated in her diary by ~~see~~ writing that Gestapo loaded all the Jewish people in cattle trucks and send them to concentration camps. The Jews were killed in the concentration camps.

Anne Frank wrote about the political situations of second world war. The invasion by America and England and other events. As her life was changed in hiding period, she wrote about feelings of ~~for~~ the people around her; like her feelings about her mother, her sister Margot Frank, her father and many others. She wrote her diary in a variety of moods. She wrote about the daily routines, items available for food to the families in hiding. In the last part of her diary she wrote about her two sides. She called herself "a bundle of nerves".

She wrote her anger, confusions, hopes, feelings, the political situations, situation of the war and even about the reviews of people about the war, the horror of the war, the holocaust. All these objects made the theme of the "Diary of a Young Girl". Moreover, Anne's feelings and was enjoying a cup of tea while sitting on the balcony of my 1st floor flat. Along with me, my friend Ankita was also having a cup of tea at my home. I was feeling delighted.

Suddenly, a fast wind began to blow. I felt dizzy and the cup fell from my hand. Ankita said, "Hey! Look at those lovely children. How happily they are playing?" I saw them and we went into the park where those children were playing. While enjoying the rain and the game of the children, I saw an old woman crossing the road. She had no umbrella. Nobody was there to help her. "Alas! The old lady got hitted by some fast moving vehicle." The children stopped playing. "The woman got badly injured." We called the police.

I and some people on the road, who witnessed the accident took the old woman to hospital. It was raining. We were seriously worried about her. We admitted the woman to a hospital.

The doctor treated the old woman and he said, "The woman needs to be hospitalised for 2 days." Not knowing about the woman, we got worried. The police arrived at the hospital, informed the woman's family about accident, talked to people and collected the no. of the bike that ~~hit~~ the old woman. The family reached on time. The bikers ~~were~~ caught by the police within two hours. They were arrested by the police and sent to jail.
